

Expressions of Interest – General Practitioners (VR) - growing practice focussed on patient care, innovation & collaboration

Is it time to immerse yourself in a practice that strives to significantly contribute to its community's health and wellbeing?

Expressions of interest are invited from vocationally registered General Practitioners to join a well established accredited practice based in Shepparton, just two hours' drive from Melbourne.

We are looking for experienced GPs who share our values:

- Person-centred team care
- Passion for learning and teaching
- Innovation in primary care delivery
- Making a real difference through collaboration with our community and primary care partners

We can offer:

- A joint academic / clinical appointment with the University of Melbourne Department of Rural Health (if desired and subject to the University's criteria)
- A very collaborative and supportive environment
- Opportunity to establish speciality clinics in own area of interest
- An established patient base and more demand than we can currently satisfy
- Operational and clinical management support
- Scheduling flexibility, including early evening and Saturday work available from early 2016
- Great opportunity to teach and mentor registrars and medical students
- Support to undertake research
- % of revenue generated based on qualifications and experience
- Student teaching payment

About us:

The University of Melbourne Shepparton Medical Centre is a modern, well equipped and fully computerised practice that is home to a dedicated team of GPs, four primary care nurses with skills in chronic disease, administrative staff as well as on site pathology, counselling and a variety of allied health professionals. We are a keen teaching practice and regularly take GP registrars and medical students. Due to high patient demand, we are looking for experienced VR GPs to join the team.

To find out more contact:

Sönke Tremper, Executive Director on s.tremper@shepmed.unimelb.edu.au.